Why Major in Judaic Studies?

Intellectual Sophistication
As a program and a major/minor that encourages interdisciplinary teaching and research, Judaic Studies courses are taught by scholars working at the cutting edge of their fields.

Academic Flexibility
The interdisciplinary nature of Judaic Studies means that you are encouraged to take courses in a diverse range of departments and disciplines, such as English, Political Science, History, Religious Studies, International Studies, and Geography. By specializing in Judaic Studies, you retain the opportunity to continue to explore different fields even as you advance toward your degree.

Individual Attention
Judaic Studies courses are typically small in size so you can be sure of receiving personal attention from your professors. Academic advising is done by the Director of the Program, Dr. Haim Shaked, who meets individually with all Judaic Studies majors and minors and is always available by appointment at 305-284-6882 or email: hshaked@miami.edu.

Study Abroad
The JUS Program is working to develop summer Study Abroad options as well as semester-long Study Abroad programs, in Israel and in several European countries.

Library Resources

THE PROGRAM

The George Feldenkreis Program in Judaic Studies is a broad, flexible, interdisciplinary program designed for undergraduates to gain an understanding of Jewish civilization and its diverse cultural experiences. The program, which is non-theological in orientation, is an academic exploration of the multi-faceted, socio-historical, 4,000-year record of the Jewish people. Courses taught and combined with the program courses highlight the variety of cultural, political, social, and religious experiences of Jews in different times and places.

The program is structured to provide an in-depth liberal arts education that will constitute a foundation for advanced academic study, professional careers in a variety of fields, and a more complex and rich understanding of the world. Judaic Studies courses meet distribution requirements for Humanities and Social Sciences in the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Engineering, the School of Communication, the School of Business, and the Frost School of Music.

This lecture course offers a comprehensive survey of the history of Nazi Germany from the early pre-fascist movements before the First World War to the final and ignominious collapse of the regime in 1945. In this course students will learn how to think critically and put together persuasive arguments differentiating fact from conjecture. This course is writing intensive. The main topics covered include: Germany at the end of World War I and the rise of the Nazi party in the 1920s; the last years of the Weimar Republic and Hitler's rise to power; the crucial first phase of the regime that ended with the consolidation of Nazi rule in 1934; social, economic, and cultural developments between 1933 and 1939; antisemitic legislation and discrimination during the years leading up to the outbreak of the Second World War; Nazi foreign policy and the origins of World War II; Germany during the Second World War; and the Holocaust. The reading for this class includes autobiographies and diaries from contemporaries, as well as an array of translated primary sources. Several documentaries will be shown during the course of the semester.
JUS 338-FG
Holocaust History: The Holocaust as Reflected in Movies

Instructors: Dr. Haim Shaked and Ms. Golda Retchkiman
Section FG: M 2:15pm-5:00pm

The Holocaust is a highly significant historical event that has been represented cinematically with much frequency and variety. By viewing and discussing a variety of films, we shall explore the origins and the development of the persecution and attempted annihilation of the European Jewry during World War II. We shall analyze the links between history, memory and trauma; the role of testimony and witnessing; the representation of violence and evil by the perpetrators; the lives of the victims; the role of the bystanders and the motivations of the rescuers. Using both fiction and non-fictional materials, we shall examine how various international filmmakers such as Benigni, Chaplin, Spielberg, Törek, construed the past in order to ponder or not its historical validity.

Combined with INS 310/POL 388
Instructor: Dr. Bradford McGuinn
Section Q: Tu/Th 1:00pm-2:15pm

From war to war and crisis to crisis, Israel is, at once, an established polity, an aspiration and a contention. It is the purpose of this course to examine the Israeli system. The conjugation of three themes will structure this investigation. The first considers the complex, and evolving, identity questions and politics that attend Jewishness, Zionism and being Israeli. The second investigates legitimacy, the nature and dynamics of the Israeli political system. And the third engages the multidimensional nature of Israeli security.
REL 406 QE01-HRK
Sacred Space
Combined with ARC 583/683
Instructor: Dr. William S. Green
Section QE01-HRK: Tu 5:45pm-8:00pm

An inter-disciplinary seminar, SACRED SPACE explores the multiple, layered intersections of religion and architecture, through case-studies of contemporary and historic religious buildings across culture, time and place. Students from across the University and the faculty investigate if, how, and to what extent architecture and the sacred are connected and if they require one another. Topics are explored through case studies, readings and discussion in a dinner-meeting, situated in a discussion setting in Mahoney Residential College, designed to support lively and engaging dialogue. Over the course of the semester, students prepare a case study for group discussion. This course is offered in the Harkness Table format which emphasizes discussion-based learning.
